

2012 Spring Student Internships

We know that the world demands leaders for tomorrow who are well equipped to handle problems far beyond our current reach. To further these efforts, the Independent Institute hosts a multi-dimensional internship program that provides participants with a hands-on approach to public policy. In conjunction with their work, interns will be introduced to the ideas of classical liberalism and will have the opportunity to attend our Challenge of Liberty Summer Seminars.

Communications

Join the Institute's communications and publicity team and provide outreach to print and broadcast news media outlets worldwide.

Marketing and Student Programs

Help the Institute strategically express its message through the use of marketing, sales, customer service, and media coordination.

Donor Relations

Play a vital role in the Institute's success through donor relations, fundraising, special events, and social networking.

Publications and I/T

Provide creative support for the Institute's print and online resources, such as books, journals, websites, and media kits.

Acquisitions

Assist our editorial team with acquisitions, manuscript development, and author relations.

Research

Conduct research with an Institute fellow on key public policy issues.

All internships are unpaid.

Please visit our website at www.independent.org/students for details on eligibility and how to apply.
